

Lori Salvia
Class of 1985

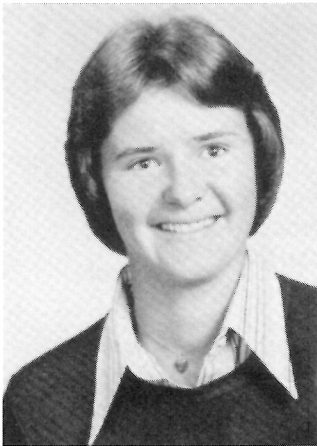

A three-sport star who captained the field hockey, basketball and softball teams her senior year at Milford High School, Lori Salvia was a true leader in the athletic arena. She not only made significant contributions to all three sports in high school, earning 11 varsity letters, but continued to be a key factor in Boston College's rise to national prominence during her tenure as a pitcher on the BC Softball team.

During Lori's senior year, the basketball team qualified for tournament play for the first time in seven years, finishing the regular season at 13-7, good for second place in the Midland League. Lori averaged 12 points per game as a forward, and led the team with 19 in the team's first round victory against Shrewsbury.

Without a doubt, Lori's top sport was softball. Not only was she an outstanding pitcher, but she also could swing the bat with the best of them. As a junior, she batted .500 with 4 home runs, 2 triples and 6 doubles, while going 9-3 on the mound. She followed that with a monster of a senior year in which she batted .640 with 7 home runs, 9 triples, 11 doubles, 30 RBI's and a record of 11-1, including a no-hitter, on the mound.

Lori became a force for Boston College at the end of the decade. The Eagles won three consecutive Division I ECAC Championships from 1988-90 on the strength of her pitching. She was Co-MVP in 1988. In 1989, she was 14-5 with a 0.64 ERA, 149 K's in 89 innings, and hurled a no-hitter as well as four one-hitters. She was also selected to both the All New England and All Northeast All Star Teams. Despite a serious illness, Lori was 10-9 with a 1.20 ERA as a senior, including another no-hitter and three more one-hitters.

Patricia A. (Webber) Redgate
Class of 1978

Tricia Webber, the other half of the "dynamic duo" with fellow Hall of Fame member and cousin Maura Cullen, led Milford High School's girl's athletic programs to prominence in the mid 1970's.

A truly versatile athlete, Tricia earned four varsity letters in basketball and softball, two in field hockey, and one in volleyball. She was also one of MHS's outstanding leaders, serving as a co-captain of three sports during her senior year.

On the field hockey field, Tricia was remembered as a speedy attack player and a scoring threat. A tenacious rebounder, she could also be counted on to score her share of points on the basketball court. As a slick-fielding first baseman, she possessed great base running skills in softball. She is mostly remembered, however, by coaches and teammates alike for the positive enthusiasm and spirit she generated at every level and in every sport.

After graduating from Milford High School, Tricia attended Bridgewater State College where she played varsity basketball and lacrosse. She is a graduate of Suffolk Law School and is presently a senior partner in a Milford law firm.